Regional Grant Opportunity

How do I know if I'm a regional publisher?

You are a regional publisher if:

- > your primary operations are located in a regional area (see definition below)
and
- > your news and journalistic output is targeted to readers and audiences in one or more regional areas.

What is a regional area?

An eligible regional area is defined as an area that is not within a metropolitan commercial radio licence area in each of the mainland state capital cities (Adelaide, Brisbane, Melbourne, Perth and Sydney).

This definition will be used to assess your business location's eligibility.

Regional areas are not part of mainland state capital cities, and can include major population centres, for example:

- > Canberra
- > Darwin
- > Geelong
- > Gold Coast
- > Hobart
- > Newcastle
- > Wollongong.

All of Tasmania and the Northern Territory are regional areas.

Postcode finder

- > Click the find my postcode button below.
- > Type in your business's postcode in the 'Find' field and click 'Next'.
- > Your postcode will be highlighted if it is found on the lists on the following pages of this pdf.
- > If it's found on the Regional postcodes list, you are in a regional area.
- > If it's found on the Part-regional postcodes list, you may not be in a regional area and should contact the ACMA at innovationfund@acma.gov.au.
- > If your postcode is not found on any of these lists, you are not in an eligible area.

If you are viewing this pdf on a mobile device, or the button does not work, you will need to manually search for your business's postcode under your state, on the following pages of this pdf.

FIND MY POSTCODE

Am I in a regional area?

The postcode of your primary business address can be used to work out if you are in an eligible regional area.

Use the postcode finder, or manually search the lists by state on the following pages, to find your postcode.

✔ Regional postcodes

If your business's postcode is in the Regional postcodes list, your business is in a regional area.

! Part-regional postcodes

Some postcode areas may be in both a regional area and a metropolitan area, such as on the outskirts of a state capital city.

If your business's postcode appears on the Part-regional postcodes list, your business may not be in a regional area. You will need to contact the ACMA to confirm if you are in a regional area. Please email: innovationfund@acma.gov.au.
